

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In a method of fabricating plastic strips and an extruder structure therefor, a plastic extruder is used to melt plastic or acrylic raw materials and to extrude the same in the form of soft plastic strips, which can be bent by hand to form a shape by following a pattern that is a line or a recess formed in a mold plate. 5 The plastic strip is allowed to cool to form a product with the desired shape.